DC316 Expectations

for Attendance and Participation

Welcome to DC316.

Our mission is to provide a safe, inclusive, and supportive environment where people from all walks of life can come together to collaborate, learn, create, and innovate. We encourage creativity, curiosity, and open-mindedness in all our activities, and we are committed to ensuring that everyone feels welcome and respected.

By participating in our meetings, all members, guests, and visitors agree to uphold the following guidelines:

1. Respect and Inclusivity

- Treat everyone with kindness, respect, and empathy. Discrimination, harassment, or intimidation of any kind based on race, gender, age, sexual orientation, disability, religion, appearance, or any other personal characteristic will not be tolerated.
- Foster an environment where everyone feels safe to express themselves, ask questions, and share ideas, regardless of skill level or background.

2. Harassment-Free Space

- Harassment, whether verbal, physical, or otherwise, is prohibited. This includes unwanted physical contact, inappropriate comments, or any behavior that makes others feel uncomfortable.
- If you experience or witness harassment, please report it immediately to the designated meeting organizer or another DC316 member. All reports will be taken seriously and handled promptly.
- Remember at the end of the day we are ALL nerds and we protect our own.
- Do not interfere with or disrupt any presentations, equipment, signals or the ability for others to freely participate in DC316 functions and meetings.

3. Collaboration and Sharing

- Information wants to be free.
- Hacking thrives on collaboration. Share your knowledge, expertise, and ideas to help others grow and learn.
- Encourage open-source practices and respect intellectual property, giving proper attribution when using or building upon others' work.
- Offer constructive feedback and create a space where all members feel empowered to ask for help or offer guidance without fear of judgment.
- Strive to fulfill other's questions and quest for knowledge.
- Open doors and new horizons for others.

4. Safety First

- Always prioritize safety when working with tools, machinery, and electronic equipment. Follow all posted safety guidelines and procedures.
- If you're unfamiliar with how to use a tool or machine, ask a more experienced member for guidance before starting.
- Keep the space clean and organized to avoid accidents, and report any equipment malfunctions or hazards immediately.

5. Respect for Privacy

- Respect the privacy of other members. Do not record, photograph, or share someone else's work or personal information without their consent.
- Any private conversations or personal discussions should remain confidential unless otherwise agreed upon.

6. Inclusive Language

- Use language that is inclusive, welcoming, and non-discriminatory. Avoid terms or jokes that could be harmful, exclusionary, or offensive.
- Aim to be mindful of the diverse perspectives and experiences that each individual brings to the space.
- If you are uncertain ask someone.

7. Environmental Responsibility

- Be conscious of the environmental impact of the work you do. Reduce, reuse, and recycle materials when possible.
- Dispose of hazardous materials properly and in accordance with local regulations.
- Please leave the meeting space in better condition than you found it.

8. Conflict Resolution

- Disagreements can happen, and that’s okay. If you find yourself in conflict with another member, try to address the issue respectfully and constructively.
- If you need help resolving a conflict, reach out to a space organizer or mediator who can assist in facilitating a solution.

9. Community and Shared Resources

- Be mindful of shared tools and resources. Clean up after yourself, and ensure that others have access to the equipment when they need it.
- Don’t monopolize resources or space. Consider the needs of others who may want to use the tools or space after you.
- Share ideas, but also be respectful of others’ time and space to work.

10. Consequences of Violating the Code

- Violating any part of this Code of Conduct can result in temporary or permanent removal from the meeting and community. The severity of the consequence will be based on the situation and will be handled by the space organizers and community members.
- We believe in restorative practices, and will work to ensure fairness and justice if any violations occur. The goal is always to help the community grow stronger, safer, and more inclusive.
- While there is no cheating in hacking you will be dealt consequences immediately for violating these expectations.

DC316 is committed to maintaining a space where everyone can feel empowered to create, learn, and innovate. Let's build something great together and keep DC316 a welcoming and inspiring community for all!

This Code of Conduct is a living document, and we encourage feedback to improve it.

We’re all part of the community, so let’s keep it safe, fun, and open for everyone.
